

Food and Drink East Africa and the co-located Hostex East Africa which were due to take place later this month, have regrettably been postponed.

There are a number of separate reasons behind the decision to postpone, however collectively, organisers felt they would not have been able to deliver the quality of event they would like. Originally set to open on 22 May 2018, Food & Drink East Africa and Hostex East Africa will now take place early in 2019, with official dates yet to be confirmed.

In a statement to press, Alexander Angus, the Event Director, commented “The local market over the past 12 months has been very turbulent, with election unrest and unpredictable rains, all this uncertainty has seriously affected a number of our partners’ ability to participate. This decision has not been taken lightly, the needs of our clients’ are at the heart of all the decisions we make. I want to assure our many visitors and exhibitors that we are 100% committed to this event and are making arrangements as we speak to run both shows in 2019.”

Organisers will confirm in the coming weeks the official dates for 2019. To find more information about the show, please visit www.foodanddrink.co.ke and www.hostexeastafrica.com.
